

Shelley Nelkens of Antrim: original email correspondence to Bill Kieffer of the FAA (bill.Kieffer@FAA.gov) regarding the tower lighting situation:

Re: Antrim wind towers, Antrim, NH

Dear Bill,

A quick synopsis from my end:

9/9/19, 7 pm Antrim, NH Selectmen's meeting with myself and four Trans-Alta representatives.

I informed the Selectmen that all nine wind towers were non-compliant with either the FAA or SEC's rules. Furthermore, none of the towers — starting at 200' — have ever been lit until recently when Tower #7 was lit with a non-compliant flashing red light.

The Trans-Alta representatives stated that all the towers were appropriately lit and that if there was a malfunction, they would take care of it. By 11:30 pm the same evening four NOTAMs were issued.

Attached please find Trans-Alta's 9/11/19 response to the SEC's query on my behalf.

If I can be of any assistance, please contact me by phone or email me c/o Richard Block, snowstar@tds.net.

Sincerely,
Shelley Nelkens
